Mr. Bragdon, charged by the War Production Board, with responsibility for the drive, is to be commended for his efforts. He spent his personal time and worked for weeks in the first concerted effort to get in the scrap. George Beckheusen, 77, died in the Newton Memorial Hospital, Wednesday morning. He had been ill for some time and last week was brought to the hospital with his wife, who suffered a broken hip.

Mr. Beckheusen was said to have been a sufferer from lung trouble for a number of years and this with other complications and due to his advanced age, rendered his condition very grave.

Mr. Beckheusen was born in Olenburg, Germany, in 1866. He came to America in May of 1882, at the age of 15 years. The family settled near Rockdale. It was there that he met Miss Louisa Aschenbeck in 1883, and they were married 5 years later in 1888. She is the daughter of J. H. Aschenbeck. Following their marriage they settled on a farm near Milano and Hoyte.

He was the father of 8 children, seven of whom survive. Three daughters, Mrs. Bettie Oden, Mrs. Helen Mortimer both of Milano; and Mrs. Sophie Riley of Devine. ## CHURCHILL PROMISES EARLY BLOW AT JAPS

Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, Wednesday, in a speech in the House of Commons in London, promised an early blow at the Japs in the Pacific, renewing his recent pledge that Great Britain will fight to the last breath side by side with America in the Pacific.

Mr. Churchill's address was not accounted of any great importance. He made no mention of any thrust at Europe. Generally the tension in Europe seems to indicate some serious new turn in the war.

Mr. Churchill not only pledged blows at the Japs but said they will be delivered soon.

Early in the morning of Tuesday landings were made on the Island of Rendova which is a part of the New Guinea group in the South Pacific war zone.

ALBERT COLLINS NOW HEADS ROTARY CLUB

Albert Collins is the new President of the Cameron Rotary Club, installed Wednesday at the weekly luncheon of the club.

Mr. Collins is the sixth president of the club which was organized in April 1938.

Dr. Clifford Swift was the first President; J. B. White, second; P. W. Davis, third; Carroll Wood, fourth and Chas. Hicks, fifth.

Mr. Collins, in an address to the members following his induction into office, pledged a year of service to the club, outlining objectives which he hopes to reach and asked the co-operation of the membership.

Chas. Hicks, retiring president of the club, presented Mr. Collins a Rotary pin to be worn by the President as they succeed to the office. This pin was purchased recently by the club.

J. B. White, Editor and Publisher, presented retiring President Chas. Hicks, with the past president's pin commending him for his service to Rotary in the past year.

M. H. Boehner, who heads the USO in Cameron, made a report on the activities of this organization.

CONGRESS OVERRIDES THE VETO ON STRIKE BILL

Congress late Friday voted to override the veto of President Roosevelt on the Anti-Strike measure.

The President as predicted by the Herald, vetoed the bill and sent it back to congress. Both house and senate, angered, had made a record in a two hour consideration to vote down the veto.

In some quarters the political angle of the situation was widely discussed. The revolt in Congress may be the beginning of a shift to responsibility. If the country were at war these differences might be composed. As long as we talk war and do no fighting the people will not manifest any concern over events.

The war news is the same as for the past month or more. Only bombings. No invasion and no indication of any immediate attack upon the Axis by land forces, the only action which can bring victory outside diplomats and negotiation.

If the Congress follows through with vigor the nation may get down to business. The coal miners should have a contract, they should go back to work and will go back if they get a contract.

Under the bill which Congress has just passed over the President's veto, John L. Lewis can be put in jail. He will not be arrested. On the contrary will become more powerful and more disturbing.

U S FORCES LAND ON ANOTHER PACIFIC ISLE

Combined forces of the army, navy and marine corps, landed on the Island of Rendova in the Pacific battle area Wednesday, it was announced by the Navy Department in Washington.

The extent of the operation is believed to be small. The Island is one of the small group and a part of the New Guinea area.

Most of the fighting for the moment was occurring on the Washington front, thus demoralizing the war effort. The American people are not expected to stand for much more, although they have stood for a great deal from the administration.

The President seemed bitter but bi-passed his two employees, Jesse and Henry to take a poke at the press. He was bitter at the newspapers. One radio commentator said if the President does not act soon to restore order and to deal firmly with the war he will lose prestige with the people.

GOOD CORN

Frank McLerran brought in some very fine corn Wednesday, 3 ears, two yellow and one white. This corn was produced on his Bear Creek farm.

Mr. McLerran says he will make almost 50 bushels to the acre. Generally the crop is good in this section but rain would be welcome at this time. Mr. McLerran believes his corn will mature without further moisture.

V. L. Zavrel was a Cameron visitor Tuesday.

APPLICATION BLANKS FOR GAS BOOKS READY

Plans to renew motorists' "A" gasoline coupon books by mail under the streamlined renewal plan recently announced by the OPA beginning June 22 have been completed by the Milam War Price and Rationing Board, Sam Perry, Chairman, announced today.

He coupled this announcement with a request that car owners file their applications as soon as possible so that the Board may process them and mail out all new books before the present "A" rations expire July 21.

The mail renewal plan, which also includes renewals of the basic "D" motorcycle rations, eliminates the school-house registration that was necessary when basic rations were issued last autumn. To get his new "A" or "D" books a car or motorcycle owner needs take only the following simple steps:

1. Pick up an application form at any service station. The forms will be available at these places beginning July 1.

2. Fill out the form and mail it to the War Price and Rationing Board together with (a) the back cover of the present "A" or "D" book (properly filled out), and (b) the current tire inspection record showing that proper inspections have been made.

"With volunteer help now being enlisted the Board will begin processing the applications as soon as they start coming in," Mr. Perry said.

MILAM PURCHASE WAR BONDS IS $9,635,128

Milam county purchased war bonds in the amount of nine million, six hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars in the recent War Loan No. 2.

These figures are revealed in a table just issued by the War Finance Committee for the 11th Federal Reserve District.

Milam county was seventh in the state in the amount of bonds purchased. Harris county was first and Dallas county was second with one three counties between the two high and Milam. Milam county bought almost 3 times as much as Bell County and more than McLennan.

Milam county got none of the war money, no plants and no consideration at all in Washington.

The purchases were divided as follows: Individual $6,719,128 and the banks bought $2,916,000.

TO MY PALS WHO STAYED AT HOME

From U. S. Boys in New Guinea and Dedicated to Draft Dodgers Back in the States:

I'm fighting for my colors, I've flung my web away,

It has been months now since I've had any pay,

I'm just a weary soldier, so help me God I am,

I'm sick of eating biscuit, bully beef and jam.

I'm tired of fighting dirty Japs out here on my own,

When I think of Dear America, and my pals who stayed at home.

You see them walking down the street,

Their chests puffed out with pride; And hear them bragging to my friends,

How they saved their hides.

And now I'm in New Guinea, not game to show my head,

For fear some dirty Jap will fill it full of lead.

When I told my folks at home that I'd volunteered to fight,

They said, "God bless you, son, He'll bring you home all right."

My pals called me a Gold Brick Soldier, they bragged about it, too:

They said I'd never see the front, nor even get a view;

They said it's just a picnic across the ocean foam;

But they were not so game, they preferred to stay to home.

Now they aren't bad shots when on a rabbit's track,

But there's no danger there, the rabbit can't shoot back.

They stay among their own class, brag on our United States;

In billiard rooms, dance halls, that's where they meet their fate.

A billiard cue their rifle, a bar their fighting zone;

There are no bullets to dodge, for my pals who stayed at home.

Now I will take my gun, and buckie my belt on too,

If I stop a bullet, they'll never hear a moan.

For I'm just an ordinary soldier, I'll see this dam thing thru.

So I dedicate this especially to My Friends who stayed at home.

This poem was brought to The Herald by L. S. Svetlik of Buckholts.

It was published in Vestnik, at West official organ for the Slavonic Benevolent Association of Texas:

Corsicana have returned to their home after visiting a week with her mother, Mrs. W. M. Bailey and sister, Mrs. Ernest Senkel.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Senkel and children spent Sunday with the Willie Senkel family of Burlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Francis of Killeen visited in Cameron Monday.

NATION'S MINORS STILL IDLE DESPITE NEW LAW

The nation's coal miners in large part were still idle Monday when the limit for return to work had been fixed by observers.

The miners still are resentful they have no contract.

The bill outlawing strikes passed over the president's veto has had no effect and is not expected to be heeded by anyone.

Congress merely demonstrated its outraged feelings because of the appeasement which Roosevelt has exercised towards John L. Lewis. The President's veto touched off the fire works and placed the Congress squarely in the attitude of independence. This new congressional revolt led to a blow at the administration on the price control situation.

Running true to form the OPA, Republican controlled, had begun a subsidy to processors of food. The Congress halted this practice and gave the money to the farmers who produce the food, if any is to be awarded.

Newspapers of America have begun to call upon the people to forget about peace and try to concentrate on the war days ahead.

This indicates how far the war effort has failed. The only way to have war is to fight. Until the fighting begins there will be no public interest, in excuses, politics or domestic squabbles.

The air forces of Britain and America were in action Monday and this was all. A psychological war is a poor excuse in a world of hard realism.

Homer Chambers of Grand Prairie visited his mother, Mrs. Maude Chambers over the week end.

Graduates From Army Aircraft Maintenance School at Kessler

Kessler Field—Charged with the vital task of keeping huge B-24 Liberators in the high state of mechanical perfection required for modern aerial combat, Pfc. Jeary Krenek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Krenek, Rt. 4, Box 42, Cameron, was graduated today as a expert mechanic from this unit of the Army Air Forces Technical Command.

Pfc. Krenek has just completed the 17-week course in bomber mechanics, receiving specialized training in B-24 maintenance, hydraulic and fuel systems, propellers, instruments, electrical systems, engines, structures and inspection. During the last eight days he was given a field test under simulated battle conditions, enabling him to apply, as he would in combat, what he learned from the course.

Mrs. Joe Meier, Cleo Malone, Jerry Malish and Helen Ruth Hightower spent Friday in Waco shopping.

AMERICANS ARE STILL THE BEST NOURISHED PEOPLE ON EARTH
...AND THERE'S A REASON

Our food may be stretched out these days to share with the peoples of the United Nations, but thanks to new scientific developments in animal feeding, our feathered and four-legged armies are being greatly improved in quality and propagation.

To tiny yeast cells goes much of the credit, because brewer's yeast is the source of the vitamins used to fortify feed mixtures. Now, when you eat meat raised on vitamin-fortified feeds, you're getting nutrition plus.

Anheuser-Busch is America's biggest supplier of yeast vitamins for cattle and poultry feeds. Our large-scale production of natural vitamins is another achievement that resulted from years of research and laboratory work in producing the world's most popular beer.

Budweiser

In addition to supplying the armed forces with glider parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs, Anheuser-Busch produces materials which go into the manufacture of: B Complex Vitamins • Rubber • Aluminum • Munitions • Medicines • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods • Bread and other Bakery Products • Batteries • Paper • Soap and Textiles—to name a few.

By the time you read this you will have heard all of the various comment that is sure to follow today's history-making session. I have just left the floor where less than ten minutes ago the House, by a vote 244 to 108, over-rode the President's veto of the Connally-Smith Bill. The prompt action this afternoon was in such sharp contrast to the snail's pace consideration that labor legislation has received for the past two years that it has left everyone a little dazed. The President's veto was not entirely unexpected although even as late as this morning some of his most ardent supporters were freely predicting that he would sign the bill. I had felt that the President's statement on yesterday to the effect that he wanted power to draft men from 45 to 65 indicated that he was preparing to veto the bill. The House was considering the Commodity Credit Authorization Bill when at 3:30 p. m. we heard a rumor that the President had vetoed the Connally Bill. In a few minutes the word went around that the Senate had overridden the veto of 55 to 26. Still no message had reached the House. Under the procedure a veto message is first sent to the House in which the vetoed bill originated. While this bill contained a great deal of subject matter written in by the House, it was originally a Senate Bill. Even though the two Houses have been doing their best to complete action on all the appropriation bills before July 1st, the beginning of the new fiscal year, a number of Members from New York, Philadelphia, and other cities were home for the week-end (Many of these big city members go home every week regardless of the work of the House.) Most of these Members belong to the group that does not want any control of Mr. Lewis or any other labor leader or organization. Other Members from these cities immediately began to kill time—to demand roll calls on unimportant questions and to try to adjourn the House. We had sufficient votes to overcome all such tactics and to hastily pass the pending bill for the support of the Commodity Credit Corporation with a stiff amendment prohibiting the use of any of the money for the payment of subsidies.

As soon as this was out of the way, the roll was called on the question of passing the Connally-Smith Bill notwithstanding the President's veto. The Constitution requires a two-thirds vote in each House. It is always extremely difficult to get a two to one majority for any controversial matter, and it is doubly difficult to get it when such a vote is against the President. The fact that both Houses acted with such dispatch and with such overwhelming majorities is evidence that at long last the Congress of the United States has shown the courage to act in the interest of all the people regardless of the threats of all of the big union leaders who have almost unanimously promised to defeat any Member who would vote to make the unions and their leaders responsible for their acts. It is true that it took three coal strikes and the irreparable loss of millions of tons of needed coal and hundreds of thousands of tons of vital steel before we could get enough Congressmen to vote their own convictions rather than to blindly follow the President. But today all the world knows that neither the American people nor the American Congress will indefinitely submit to the disloyal blackmail of John L. Lewis.

I was deeply disappointed at the President's attitude. Just as two and three years ago, I pointed out the danger of attempting to appease our foreign foes so am I convinced today that it is worse than folly to try to appease John L. Lewis or any other man who is willing to sabotage the war effort of America. My objection to the Connally-Smith Bill is that it doesn't go far enough. It is, however, based on the sound principle that no man has any right to slow down our country's war effort. I believe that the "work or fight" principle mentioned by the President is perfectly sound, and is worthy of general application in time of war but surely that principle applies to every able bodied man who is enjoying the benefits of American citizenship and should not be advocated simply as a substitute for frank labor legislation. If certain groups deliberately refuse to work, why should we not deal directly with their refusal as a labor matter? Why try to wrap the American flag around a slacker and a saboteur, or make the American Army a concentration camp? As I see it, every man owes service to his Nation either in the armed forces or at home. If he is in the Army and won't fight, we have rules for dealing with him. If he is in industry and won't work, we should have rules to deal with him. The Connally-Smith Bill provides some of the needed rule. I voted for the Bill notwithstanding the President's veto.

COLOGNE IS BLASTED IN NEW AIR ASSAULT

Cologne, industrially important city in the German Ruhr valley was blasted again Monday night by the Royal Air Force in what was said to have been a final polish off of the city.

Industrially the city will now no longer be important to the Germans, said the British.

It is recalled that the British said the same thing when the first raid was made on Cologne.

The German radio admitted that great damage had been done, that many of the civilian population had not survived the raid. Of special interest in the matter of destruction was the damage to the great opera house in Cologne.

The air war was continuing as usual. Otherwise there was no indications that the nations are at war.

In Washington another row has started. This time between Vice President Wallace and Jesse Jones.

The Vice President said that Jones is using coercion tactics with the materials division for war of which Wallace is head. The matter was carried to congress. Jones is the loan shark of the Roosevelt administration.
Wallace, communistic in his leanings, is also a trusted Roosevelt employee.

Fires still burned in the capital over the resignation of Food Administrator Davis.

President Roosevelt in naming Marvin Jones of Texas has one of the faithful who will go along no matter how much the whole thing stinks.

Hugo Aigner of Ben Arnold was in Cameron Thursday.

Dagger For MacArthur Made by Cameron Man Is Mailed

Leonard Garcia who makes fine daggers in his little machine shop on the R. L. Batte properties here, has just finished a fine blade to be sent to General Douglas MacArthur in Australia.

The dagger is made of tool steel and oil tempered. The blade is some 9 inches in length. The handle is of brass and a monkey head tops off the fine shaft. From the F. J. Berckerman leather store a leather scabbard with the words "General MacArthur" engraved is to be included in the gift.

Garcia has made a number of daggers for men in service and not a few were sent to the tropics.

Let's help our farmer neighbors with their hauling problems

AMERICA'S farmers have the tremendous hauling problem before fore in the nation's history.

Farm manpower is scarce. Every hour of every farmer's time is vital to victory.
Let's help conserve it.

Don't keep any farmer waiting Owners of stores, operators of markets, warehouses, elevators, terminals and processing plants, can aid substantially in the success of the "Food for Victory" program by expediting the loading and unloading of farm products.

Every farmer is an essential home front soldier. Don't keep him waiting.
He has a long way to go and no time to waste.

Studebaker dealers are co-operating Studebaker dealers go out of their way to help obtain parts for all makes of trucks.

They co-operate further by handling special repair jobs for farmers as fast as possible.

Many Studebaker dealers have special facilities for locating used trucks, that have been idle or in part-time use, for sale to farmers.

Keep your car and truck up to par
All trucks and cars must be kept in good shape to safeguard the nation's vital transportation life lines. And that's especially important this Summer.

Drop in for regular inspections. Studebaker dealers' mechanics are Essential Transportation Workers who can spot and correct truck or car trouble before it becomes serious.

able, new, 48-page book, "Care and Main-

Oil Cuts a New Pattern

Deeply impressed in the sand and mud of distant battle fields soon will be seen the pattern cut by oil's newest weapon — tracks of rugged, heavy-legged military tires made from rubber synthetically produced from petroleum.

RUBBER made from oil is now a reality; and appropriately the Governor proclaimed June 28, 1943, as American-Made-Rubber Day in Texas.

When the source of native rubber was denied the Allies by the Japanese the petroleum industry was ready with plans already drawn for making synthetic rubber from oil. Tests prove it to be as good as, and in some instances better than, rubber made from native stock.

The same Humble refineries which for more than a year have been producing vast quantities of toluene for explosives, high octane aviation gasoline, and hundreds of other vital war products, will soon be ready to make Butyl rubber for many special military uses and Butadiene, basic material for military tires.

Production of this newest weapon from oil will be an added obligation.
Humble will continue to meet established quotas of other petroleum war products as heretofore. Rubber simply will be added to an already long list of essentials—a list which reflects the vital part Humble men and women have in the battle of production.

ROOSEVELT EXPECTED TO VETO STRIKE BILL

President Roosevelt was expected to veto the anti-strike bill on his desk, placed there two weeks ago by an irate congress.

The President at a news conference said he would act on the bill before midnight Friday.

Speculation was that the President would veto the measure.

At noon Friday some 40 per cent of the miners were still out on strike, mad at the President for asking Congress for a draft bill covering men up to 65 years of age.

His signature on the bill would be a blow at labor. While much of the bill is unconstitutional, it would permit arrest and confinement of men like John L. Lewis.

The President needs no further authority to use the draft as a weapon to curtail strikes. Men up to 38 years of age if married and men up to 45 if single can be drafted under the present law. What the President seems to have done is to interpose his suggestion as a threat when he talked of drafting men up to 65. Men at that age cannot mine coal or be good soldiers. All this is just a substitute for action.

The whole matter might be settled if the miners were given a contract. The miners, for years the least paid of any of our national workers now draw an average of a little over $5 per day. Water boys on cost plus contracts get more money than do the miners, but water boys are not political factors and Union labor is.

Col. Geo. H. Cloud U. S. Marine Corps is Visitor In Cameron

Col. George H. Cloud, United States Marine Corps, was in Cameron Wednesday visiting old friends.

Colonel Cloud was born in Bell county but the family lived in Milam county for a number of years. He has been in the Pacific theatre of war for 27 months and feels just about as well as any Marine can away from the fight.

Colonel Cloud is a brother of J. F. Cloud, superintendent of the Sharp Schools. He did not discuss the war operations in the South Pacific other than to say the Marines had done their usual good job.

He does not know how long he will be at home. He has been away so long it is like visiting a foreign country to come back to Texas.

Most Envied Man Butter 'Detective'

Expert Grader Can Judge Feed Cows Have Eaten.

It may be news to even the farm folks that the conditions under which they milk their cows and the care they give the resulting product can be told immediately by an individual when he samples a portion of butter churned from the cream produced.

Where the milk or cream has been stored and what the cows have been eating are but a few of the odd bits of information that R. E. Eldred, rated as one of the country's best butter graders, can usually detect by putting a pat of butter into his mouth.

Mr. Eldred is chief butter inspector for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company's Chicago warehouse. Actually, he doesn't sample each pound—nor does he swallow any of the butter he is inspecting. A three-ounce sample, taken by a metal trier from a fiber box or wooden tub with weights ranging from 54 to 64 pounds, is sufficient.

An inspector can, in most instances, tell by tasting and smelling a sample of butter under what conditions the cream was produced and handled. Quality of the finished product is largely determined by the perfection of the raw material and care given the processing operations.

So acute is a grader's sense of taste and aroma that he can, with fairly consistent degree of accuracy, determine by the feed flavors the territory or origin of the butter. Skunkweed in Oklahoma, sageweed in the Dakotas, peppergrass in Nebraska, onion or garlic in Missouri, and the heavy feeding of alfalfa to cattle on the West coast, each imparts its own distinctive characteristics, although they are usually too faint to anyone but an expert.

Science of Hydroponics Speeds Victory Gardens

Old Mother Nature has been streamlined this spring to help win the food war on the home front.

With a recent discovery in the science of growing vegetables in a preparation containing all the necessary nutrient elements, Victory gardeners may now shorten nature's growing season by as much as 30 days.

Known as hydroponics, this science has been perfected to a point whereby gardeners can now get a head start in growing their cabbage, lettuce, green peppers and other vegetables merely by adding water to a specially-prepared soilless plant ball containing seeds, spagnum moss, vitamins and plant food. With no muss and a minimum of care, as many as 50 vegetable slips can be grown from one ball without the necessity of using "flats."

This new development is the result of years of experiment on the part of a Barryton, Mich., organization which has in the past devised similar methods of raising flowers.

Plant balls are approximately three inches in diameter, which swell to nearly six inches when moistened. They should be placed in a warm spot, preferably a window sill, watered once a day to keep moist, not saturated. The seeds contained in each transplant ball begin to grow within seven to ten days, reaching sufficient maturity to be transplanted to the garden within 30 days.

When ready for the outdoor garden, each slip should be carefully separated from the moss and transplanted to the garden, where it will grow and produce vegetables through the season.

WARSHIPS STEAMING INTO MEDITERRANEAN

Invasion looked closer Thursday than for sometime.

Warships of the British and American fleets were steaming steadily into the Mediterranean Sea Thursday as Italy was bombed almost the length of the boot, heavy attacks being carried out by British in Northern Italy while the Americans tore new holes in the toe.

Speculation was that the invasion or at least a new attack would come through Syria. Such a campaign would in effect mean little so far as Germany is concerned. It might bolster Turkey.

Greater concentration of forces in that area could make possible a thrust at the Balkans through Greece.

Axis sources were broadcasting all kinds of predictions about the coming attack. Punishing blows are being dealt to Axis by air and if the present schedule of bombings are kept up the path will be made more easy for the invasion.
